

Hello fellow Americans. I am Donald Flock and I am running for the President of the United States. I am the candidate from the Mandelacratic Party and today I am going to talk to all of you.

Our economy is what keeps this country going and if it were to fail then so would we. Knowing this, we need to fix it and keep it from doing so. Our number one priority is to not raise the debt unless crucially needed and to try to lower it as much as possible. To do this we need to have more U.S. made products and not rely on foreign products. To have more U.S. products made, we need more jobs. To do this we will push to make community colleges free therefore giving everyone the opportunity to get a good education being able to get a better job or create more jobs. This keeps money cycling around in the U.S. and not being lost going to another country. If the country we rely on for products, China for example, decide to stop sending products then it could ruin our economy.

Now on to immigration...A major topic at the moment is immigration, specifically those immigrating from Mexico. I realize that many, including myself, do not want the troubles that some of these immigrants are bringing over, illegal drugs being one of them, and to aid in the prevention of these issues, I would like to raise border security for the safety of the country. In addition to this, I would like to implement programs to educate those wishing to immigrate to the U.S. in English and the laws and history of America. This will allow these immigrants to be well-prepared when coming into the country for their new life in America.

The leader of Syria, Bashar al-Assad, is a known enemy to the U.S. of which we keep a watch on. Recently Russia has been assisting al-Assad and can threaten us as we are assisting the rebels fighting against al-Assad. Also, our fighting in Iran needs to cease and try to negotiate a peace treaty with them. The constant fighting with them is forcing us to sacrifice a lot of money as well as costing many lives and needs to be negotiated. Along with Syria, North Korea is also a known enemy to the U.S. making us keep a watch on them. They are a threat to the U.S. and have the resources to attack us. To assure that this never happens we are going to keep a close eye on them and we will make sure no harm will be done to any citizens.

Now, let's talk education. Several changes have been made recently to the curriculum in America's schools, and unfortunately, many of these changes have come from budget cuts. I would like to add things like the arts, extracurricular activities, and other important aspects of the students' education back into the school system. Along with money going towards those things, I find that the Common Core State Standards will benefit the country in many ways, and therefore will continue to support the progression of these standards.

China is a main concern when it comes to trade. We trade a lot with them and are in a lot of debt with them because of this trade. We don't want trade to cease between China and us but we do want to rely more on ourselves and not them. This briefly takes us back to what I said on economics about we need more of our own products. Also, by producing more products we will be able to export more products therefore creating a higher profit for us and giving us more money for other topics such as education or health care. Trade is very crucial to everyone and it will not end but it also is expensive. We still need products from other countries but we need to be able to make enough products to export that will make it seem like the cost isn't too high as we get a higher profit from it as well.

Thank you and God bless America. I hope all of you take something from this. And please, vote for me, Donald Flock.
